

To whom it may concern,

Rockschool is an international music exam board based in the UK, and operating in more than 40 countries worldwide.

Rockschool is accredited the same as Trinity and ABRSM by:
Ofqual (England)
Qualification Wales
CCEA (Northern Ireland)

Rockschool is however unique among the Music Exam boards in the UK since Rockschool is the only music exam board that is also accredited in Scotland: SQA Accreditation (Scotland).

In South Africa the Rockschool syllabus is used by schools in the IEB curriculum for practical music exams. These schools include:

St Mary's School Waverley, St Anne's Diocesan College, Kingsmead College, St Stithians Preparatory School, St Albans College and Waterkloof House Preparatory School to name a few.

The IEB is also hoping to be able to add our world first Graded Syllabus in Music Production to the list of possible instruments to matriculate with in South Africa.

Rockschool instruments are also accepted by Umalusi Council for Quality Assurance in General and Further Education and Training, and public schools use our syllabus to prepare their students for matric exams. Examples are:

Grey College, Highschool Overkruin and Articon Highschool.
